

EXECUTIVE RETREAT FACILITATION

For venues and coordinators working with executive groups

Executive teams often book a retreat before they have a facilitator in place. I design and facilitate the content of their time together, so you have someone exceptional to recommend when they ask.

What I Do

I design and facilitate the content of executive retreats: the agenda, the conversations, the working sessions, and how the time is structured from start to finish. Your team focuses on hospitality.

Who I Work With

CEOs, C-suites, and senior leadership teams across industries, from small teams to groups of 30 or more wanting team building, strategic alignment, leadership development, and/or change management. Every program is built specifically for that group.

How I Work With You

When a client mentions they're looking for a facilitator, pass along my name and contact or make a quick introduction. I reach out directly, handle the full conversation, and take it from there. You stay focused on your client relationship and I keep you informed along the way.

Background

Fifteen years designing and facilitating leadership retreats and off-sites with Fortune 500 companies, PE-backed firms, high-growth startups, and leadership teams across industries. I coach public and private company CEOs, and have led teams through strategic planning, organizational alignment, leadership development, and change management. I bring that same depth of experience to every retreat I design.

www.ExecutiveThoughtPartner.com/facilitation

JUSTIN FOLLIN · justin@executivethoughtpartner.com · 512-590-9051

Justin The Executive
Follin Thought Partner